Interests & hobbies

I have always loved basketball, which I both play and follow closely. I also have a great passion for music of all genres and have been playing the guitar every day of my life for the last 12 years.

As a web developer I am always researching other websites for design and development inspiration. I am fascinated by the constant and rapid changes of the web, which has led to the creation of so many new technologies. In turn I always try and keep my skills up to date with the latest tricks of the trade.
